

You are invited to participate in my upcoming...

Dream, Fairytale and Mythology Creative Conversation Group

The purpose of this group is to embark on a shared journey in which we will explore and experience the intimate connection between the imaginal realm and our every day lives.

- Together we will discuss the symbolism and motifs of dreams, fairytales and mythologies, with reference to our own experiences, cultures and imaginations.
- We will read texts from my Active Imagination journal which documents 'dreams', 'visions' and 'journeys' with my unconscious. These will give us a theme, focus, or topic for each session.
- We will complete each session by doing a drawing (using creative writing or mark making) so that you also have a record of your journey.

By discussing shared symbols and individual meanings we will better understand the stories that shape our experience of the world and our ability to make them our own so that they become stories we can live.

Together, we are 'A Dreaming'.

Texts

1. Wild Medicine for Re-Wilding and Death of The Too Good Mother
2. The Shapeshifter with a Raven Tattoo
3. Rapunzle who shaved her hair
4. Sedna who is ready to let go of her fingers
5. The Girl Who Feels Responsible for Everything
6. The Siren who wants you to remember who you are
7. A Fairytale City Hands Me My Fear On A Plate

Logistics

I ask that you plan to attend all sessions which will take place once a month from January - July 2021. The exact dates will be set and agreed with the group members who sign-up before 29 November.

To express your interest please email info@majja.co.uk

Meetings will take place on Zoom between 10am and 12pm London Time, or 6 - 8pm depending on which time of day suits the majority of group members.

Texts will be provided once a month via email, in advance of each meeting and presented at the beginning of each.

There is no charge for taking part but donations can be made toward my work as an artist via my page on ko-fi.com